6. TACKLING RURAL CRIME

PC Nick Walker was in attendance to give a presentation on Preventing Rural Acquisitive Crime in the Scottish Borders. He explained the definition of Rural Crime which was crime that occurred outwith cities and towns with populations of less than 2000. It included wildlife crime, vandalism/fire raising and theft. The focus of the presentation was thefts from farms and rural businesses, with machinery/tools, quad bikes, ATVs, tractors, livestock and fuel/oil being commonly targeted. From a chart giving figures for the past three years PC Walker summarised the extent of the problem in terms of the value stolen, detection rates, and the location of incidents which indicated that the problem was Borders-wide. In 2014/15, the most recent complete year's figures available, the total value stolen was over £347,000. There were currently six ways in which Police Scotland was working with partners to prevent rural acquisitive crime as follows: direct crime prevention advice; media engagement; partnership "walk and talk" events; forensic security marking; rural "no cold caller zones"; and SBAlert messaging system. PC Walker gave further details of each measure and distributed leaflets with further information. The rural "no cold caller zones", scheme was started in Berwickshire in 2011. There were currently 46 zones involving 4500 residents. The scheme was owned by the community and facilitated by Police. The SBAlert messaging system, an emergency community messaging system, was launched in 2014 and involved a partnership between Scottish Borders Council, Police, Scottish Fire and Rescue Service, NHS Borders and others. There were currently 3500 members who received messages by email, text or voice message. In particular members of the Area Forum were interested to hear more about the forensic security marking scheme. Funded by Police and Scottish Borders Council there were 200 SelectaDNA Marking Kits available for farms, delivered by Community Police Officers and the Scottish Fire and Rescue Service. The scheme was supported by the National Farmers Union of Scotland. SelectaDNA was used to mark and protect property, with a unique DNA code being registered on a secure database. The fact that property was marked in this way would be highlighted in signs displayed on the premises to indicate that the home/business was protected. In response to questions following the presentation PC Walker explained the process by which a community could set up a "no cold caller zone". With regard to the security marking kits he confirmed that these could also be purchased on-line.

7. THE 'BEST BAR NONE' INITIATIVE.

The Best Bar None (BBN) initiative was a national programme administered by the Scottish Business Resilience Centre, with partners and local co-ordinators contributing to the ambition of the scheme. The aims were to promote a safer community; promote social responsibility; raise standards in licensed venues and reward well managed venues. PC Walker explained that the scheme was launched in the Scottish Borders in August 2015 at the Queens Head in Kelso. There were independent assessments carried out in December 2015 and an Awards Event held in March 2016. The focus of the scheme this year was Galashiels and the central Borders area. Licensed venues could apply to the local scheme, be assessed by trained assessors, gain bronze, silver or gold accreditation and win awards at both local and national level. The assessment criteria were based around the five key elements of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 2005. The benefits to the community and premises of taking part in the BBN scheme were summarised in the presentation. In addition to supporting the local community and its priorities the scheme made commercial sense for venues and businesses. A key benefit, exclusive to BBN premises were savings of 10-20% on insurance premiums and enhanced cover options. The presentation concluded by listing the premises in the Scottish Borders, which had achieved gold and silver awards under the BBN scheme in 2015.

8. UPDATE ON DOG FOULING.

On behalf of the Neighbourhood Area Manager, PC Walker summarised a new refreshed approach being taken to tackle dog-fouling in the Scottish Borders. In 2014 the Scottish Household Survey rated animal nuisance, such as noise and dog fouling, as the most common problem. Within the Scottish Borders there had also been an increase in the number of reports of dog fouling. This issue was being looked at by Scottish Borders Council in the wider context of responsible dog ownership. The 'Responsible Dog Ownership Strategy and Action Plan', recently approved by Scottish Borders Council, set out what the Council would do to encourage and promote responsible dog ownership and the Council's commitment to tackling the antisocial behaviour of irresponsible dog owners. The approach outlined in the strategy included the objective to reduce the number of dog fouling instances through education, partnership working and enforcement. Officers had been investigating options to enhance its environmental enforcement activities. In this connection Council agreed to appoint a private company to carry out focused enforcement activity for a pilot period of twelve months. As part of the strategy the Council would work with communities on developing local solutions; develop an 'anti dog-fouling toolkit' which could be used by local communities; and promote key initiatives such as The Green Dog Walkers. It was confirmed that material to promote responsible dog ownership, in the form of posters, would be available to Community Councils from the Neighbourhood Services section of the Council. The Chairman thanked PC Walker for his presentations.

9. PARTNER UPDATES

9.1 NHS Borders

Chief Officer Social Care and Health, Susan Manion, was in attendance to give an update on behalf of NHS Borders. Ms Manion reported that on 29 April NHS Borders had held a celebrating excellence in staff event where a number of staff awards had also been given for quality and excellence in the Social Work team. Currently there was a consultation "Health in your Hands" being carried out with events held across the region. Comments from the consultation would be considered by the Board in June. With regard to the Accident and Emergency Department at the Borders General Hospital, although there had been challenges at the beginning of winter recent performance figures had improved with, at the end of April, 97.6% of patients being treated within 4 hours against the national average of 93.1%. With regard to the national legislation around Health and Social Care integration Ms Manion reported that in the Scottish Borders the Health and Social Care Joint Board went live on 1 April 2016, with a 3 year strategic plan and budget having been agreed in March. As part of the joint work going forward the Board would be consulting on the work around new GP contracts for joined-up care.

9.2 Scottish Fire and Rescue Service

Galashiels Station Manager, Keith Langley, circulated a report and summarised the main activity with which Scottish Fire and Rescue Service (SFRS) had been involved in the Eildon area since the last meeting of the Area Forum. After giving statistics in relation to response and resilience activity Mr Langley highlighted areas of partnership working and prevention and protection activity carried out. This was key to reducing the number of fires, casualties and losses, thus minimising the economic and social impact of fire on communities. SFRS staff in all local stations provided home fire safety visits all year round. All stations were also participating in the British Heart Foundation initiative 'Call Push Rescue' and would soon be involved in the Out of Hospital Cardiac Arrest (OHCA) project. To date over 800 members of the public had taken part in the free CPR training provided by stations. SFRS were working in partnership with TD1 and Community Learning Development to develop and pilot a diversionary project in Galashiels for youths through the summer holidays. This would run one day a week, include inputs from partner agencies and would result in a recognised award for participants. SFRS Safeguarding Policy and Procedure for Protection of Children and Adults at Risk of Harm was implemented to link into adult and child protection. The policy had created closer ties with Social Services and ensured that those people and families that fire crews identified as at risk were brought to the attention of Social Services. As summer approached SFRS would focus activities in the areas of country and outdoor safety, fire related anti-social behaviour, holiday safety and derelict property. The report concluded with reference to the Retained Duty System (RDS). A national recruitment campaign was on-going for RDS firefighters at identified stations within the Scottish Borders. A local initiative, in partnership with Radio Borders, included acknowledgement to local employers for release of employees to serve their local community.

9.3 Police Scotland

Inspector Mike Bennett was in attendance to give a report on activity within the Police Scotland Multi Member Ward Plans for Galashiels and District, Selkirkshire and Leaderdale and Melrose. Copies of the report were circulated at the meeting. Inspector Bennett summarised the ongoing work of Police Scotland, along with partners, to focus on the greatest concerns identified by local residents. With regard to reducing violent crime Police continued to target patrols in areas where violent crime had been reported. Work to focus on inconsiderate driver behaviour had included community officers being trained in the use of speed guns. Young driver education events had also been held to encourage safer and responsible driving. Inspector Bennett went on to give some statistics in relation to the number of fixed penalty tickets issued for various traffic offences. With regard to parking he referred to the concern raised at the last Area Forum meeting about parking in Selkirk. During March and April in Selkirk there had been 19 parking tickets issued for various offences and 19 warnings were administered where drivers were moved on. On Saturday 2 April 2016 a number of Members of the Scottish Borders Licensing Board, Licensing Forum and Licensing Standards Officers joined PC Lackenby, PC Robertson and Inspector Bennett, conducting checks on licensed premises in the Scottish Borders. This culminated in a visit to Galashiels at 3 am to observe dispersal from local nightclubs. Councillors Herd and White, who had taken part, commented that the late night visits had been very useful and complemented the police for their professional role and the way situations had been handled. In response to a question about the role of Street Pastors, Inspector Bennett confirmed that Police Scotland had a very positive view about the value of Street Pastors in their provision of support to vulnerable people. Inspector Bennett concluded his report by referring to Police Scotland's public consultation process. In the past this had been by hard copy consultation questionnaires. This year the consultation process was moving online to a digital format and consultation would be open all year. He urged people to take part in the consultation, stressing that Police Scotland needed opinions from the public to inform policing and to identify priorities. Everyone's view across Scotland would be taken on board at national and local level. This was a vital tool for residents to be able to shape the way their public services should operate.

10. COMMUNITY COUNCIL SPOTLIGHT

10.1 Newtown And Eildon Community Council

Community Councillor Veronica Lenartowicz introduced herself to the Area Forum and said that she was pleased and excited to give a presentation on the 'Dog Friendly Newtown' initiative. Also present to give further information was Laura Aitken from the organisation Braw Puppy. Ms Lenartowicz explained that there had been a first phase consultation by way of a community event on Saturday 2 April 2016 in the Community Wing in Newtown St Boswells. This was attended by over 90 people with 63 dogs. 25 dogs were microchipped at the event. Agencies represented included Braw Puppy, Green Dog Walkers, Keep Scotland Beautiful, and the local Veterinary Practice. Donations had also been received from local businesses, the Community Council and Scottish Borders Council. Those attending the event put forward ideas for future activities which included talks and demonstrations, a drop-in advice clinic and classes for puppies and adolescents. Ms Lenartowicz summarised the next steps which would firstly involve more consultation and involvement of the local community. The aims would then be to identify priorities and set up active groups and dog classes. Ms Aitken explained more about Braw Puppy and gave details of the types of support that the group could offer through classes, talks and workshops. The presentation then moved on to address 'the Poo Problem'. Ms Lenartowicz identified ways of tackling this issue emphasising the importance of persuasion and education. She maintained that the approach must be community driven and through pride in the community to work towards a poo-free village. Measures that had been proved to reduce the problem were 'poo patrols' and the 'ring of shame' whereby a white circle was sprayed around the deposit to highlight its position and hopefully shame the offending dog owner who failed to pick it up. In conclusion Ms Lenartowicz explained that the intention was for the group to become sustainable through fund raising activities and events. She summarised the vision for the future, the aims being for residents to take control of their community; to have clean streets, paths and verges; and to have lots of fun dog events including annual family fun days. The Chairman thanked Ms Lenartowicz and Ms Aitken for their attendance and interesting presentation.
